AFTERNOON DISPATCHES

The Author of the Infamous "Morey Letter" Run Down.

Fast Mail Train—A Jobbing Registrar in South Carolina—Gladstone and Harcourt Warned.

Associated Press Dispatches.]

CHICAGO, May 31.—John I. Davenport, who has been in Maryland for two months trying to discover the author of the Morey letter, to-day received letters which show conclusively that his man is found and will beg for terms. Davenport says his man lives in Cumberland, Maryland.

Howe Two Days' Time Might be Saved.

CHICAGO, May 31.—The Inter-Ocean had an interview with Postmaster General Howe on the fast mail, yesterday, which closed thus: Incidentally it is pertinent to say here, although the subject was not at all suggested by the Postmaster-General, that if the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific should only increase their speed to twenty-five or twenty-six miles an hour, on other roads not considered a break-neck speed, two whole days could be saved between New York and San Francisco.

Decoration Day at Wilmington.

WILMINGTON, Cal., May 31.—Decoration Day was properly observed here, under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic. The flags in the town and upon the shipping in the harbor were placed at half-mast. The places of business were closed in the afternoon. A large procession, under escort of Reynolds Post No. 31, and band, marched to Drumm Barracks cemetery, where the soldiers' graves were decorated. The orator of the day, Hon. W. A. Cheney, delivered a most eloquent address. It was considered the finest demonstration of any kind ever made here.

The Election Contest.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The House resumed the consideration of the Mackey-Dibble contested election case, and Atherton, a member of the Committee on Elections, presented the views of the minority.

Col. Tom Ochiltree.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—It is known here that Col. Tom Ochiltree, a well-known Republican, will be the candidate for Congress in the new district in Texas, which includes Galveston. The new district contains twenty-seven counties, and the Colonel says that in these counties the Democratic majority is only 4,100, nine-tenths of which comes from Galveston. He is confident of entirely overcoming this majority in Galveston, which he carried in 1879 as candidate for Sheriff, and making large gains in the remainder of the district. He regards his election as assured.

Davitt Coming to America.

BOSTON, May 30.—The following telegram has been received here:

DUBLIN, May 29.

John Boyle O'Reilly and Hon. P. A. Collins et al.:

I will arrive in Boston the 17th of June. I shall return to Ireland twelve days after my arrival.

MICHAEL DAVITT.

His main object in coming is to attend the grand centennial Irish celebration at Boston, June 16th and 17th.

Affairs at Alexandria.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The Herald's Cairo special says: There is a fearful panic at Alexandria. The European population fear for their lives. They are leaving in hundreds. All the steamers are full of women recently confined. They have been taken on board to escape the brutality of the rapacious. All the churches and places of amusement are closed. Small arms are bought up at famine prices. Arabi Bey now refuses all interviews to correspondents.

A Big Bear Coming.

ST. PAUL, May 31.—Gen. Terry, in from Milk River, says that Big Bear is making ready to come with 500 lodges south of the boundary to hunt, and has sent word that he will fight if an attempt is made to drive him away.

A Jobbing Registrar.

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 30.—The State Supervisor of Registration was arrested twice to-day for refusing to allow a Deputy U. S. Marshal to remain so near him as, in his judgment, to impede the free registration of voters. In each case the Supervisor waived examination and gave bond for his appearance at the November term of the U. S. Court.

Assassins Taking Counsel.

LONDON, May 31.—The papers print a story that both Gladstone and Harcourt have been warned that at a recent Irish meeting in London the hope was expressed that Gladstone would be assassinated next, and this expression received loud and significant applause.

CONDENSED TELEGRAMS.

The bicycle riders of the United States are assembled at Chicago for convention.

Agnes Robertson Boucicault has been granted $10,000 per annum alimony pendente lite.

At a meeting at Stocktove, Canada, Sunday, the floor fell with about fifteen people to the floor below, and a man named Fortin was killed.

At Havana, yesterday, an explosion in Moore & Alfura's Patroleum Refinery killed one man, severely injured two others, and caused the destruction of part of the refinery by fire.

Mrs. Mary Leban Berger, sister of the late Cornelius H. Vanderbilt, will contest his will, on the ground that it was fraudulently procured by Terry and others, to whom he left his property.

At Little Rock, Ark., Jim Saunders, a colored boy, 18 years of age, attempted to commit a felonious assault on a white girl on Saturday evening. He was arrested and locked up. A crowd of masked men broke into the jail and riddled him with bullets.

COAST NOTES.

An inch of snow fell in Virginia City, Nev., last Wednesday.

Montana is making large shipments of potatoes to the East.

The Independent says that Elko, Nev., is flooded with lead coin.

Thoroughbred Jersey cattle are being sent to Montana from this State.

The mine owners of Nevada county are substituting white help for the Chinese.

The Grand Council of the American Legion of Honor are in session at San Francisco.

M. Salin, of Eureka, is likely to be appointed United States District Judge for Nevada.

The Universalist State Convention of Oregon is to meet at The Dalles June 22d.

The twenty-first annual commencement of Santa Clara College will begin Monday, June 5th.

It is said that a war between the Shoshones and Bannocks, of Nevada, will begin before long.

The new dwelling of A. T. Colton at Tulare City narrowly escaped destruction by fire last Monday afternoon.

Eight bins of jute bagging has been turned out of the San Quentin prison, which will be manufactured into sacks.

The Truckee Republican says that millions of grasshoppers are hatching out wherever the snow has melted in the Truckee and Sierra Navada valleys.

The wife of James Ware, superintendent of a Truckee lumber firm, attempted to murder him with a razor last Sunday evening. Cause, family troubles.

The Prescott (A. T.) Rifles are being placed on a war footing, and when their new uniforms arrive, will scout through the wild regions of the Hassayampa.

James Brooks, formerly editor and proprietor of the Golden Era, published at San Francisco, died at Santa Cruz last Monday. He was 50 years of age, and leaves a widow.

Trout are plentiful in Ventura river. The Ventura Signal says that fully a thousand pounds have been taken from the river each Sunday for the past four or five weeks.

George Williams, a barkeeper, in Portland, Or., shot himself last Sunday evening in a bagnio. An inmate of the house refused to marry him. The wound is considered dangerous.

The northern terminus of the California Southern Railroad has approached so near to Riverside that the whistle of the engine can be distinctly heard in that town of a clear morning.

Most of the orchards in Siskiyou were completely ruined by the severe frosts of last week, and the apple crop will be exceedingly light. Grain crops were badly hurt, but very little was killed.

Some miscreant made another attempt to burn the town of Odin, Modoc county, a few nights ago, the attempt being discovered before the fire obtained headway. Several parties are under suspicion.

A mining company in Siskiyou county recently turned off an old horse which had been working a whim in their claim for twenty-seven years, and is now 33 years old. He appears hale and hearty, and seems to take much comfort in his release from harness.

The Red Pepper.

What ails the human throat in this latter day, and what has become of the old-fashioned red pepper? Men who are now forty years old knew little of throat troubles in their boyhood. The e was a little sore throat occasionally, and once in a while quinsy, and you would hear at long intervals of putrid sore throat. Children were not as daintily cared for in those days as now. Few of them ever had underclothing to wear, and scarcely a boy who had an overcoat till he was old enough to earn the money for it himself. Croup was the parental horror of that day, and yet as alum and butter were early found a sure remedy for that trouble, warping or contracting and so breaking the false membrane as it was forming, parents had no great dread of that. Children had few colds, and no sore throat—and when they had a bowl of red-pepper tea sent the ailing boy to bed sweating, and brought him out well in the morning.

The red pepper of our grandmothers—what has become it? Who that lived in those sensible days does not remember the shining string of alternate red and green peppers that hung from the rafters over the kitchen fire, and which had been planted, raised and strung by grandmother's own hand, and hung in the place of honor, all to cure the children's colds, colics and cramps, and the older folks' congestions and chills—death to all the c's? And who does not remember how perfectly the pepper accomplished its work—a little hard to take, a little hot after it was down, and yet bringing you out all right in the morning, and lending a halo of pride to grandma's face at the breafast table that the puzzled face of the modern doctor seldom shares? Ah, it was a rare old magic—the red pepper that the grandmothers raised and used. It cured all the juvenile ills we have enumerated and many more So great and quick was its magic that many a boy, who had such a sore attack of colic, croup or cold that he was sure he couldn't go to school, was cured at the mere sight or smell of its steaming tea, and sent bounding off to school as sound as a trivet and as merry as a cricket. Indeed, sudden cures have been known at the mere mention of it. Other people too—men who were afraid of working out all day in the damp or of digging in a well, and who think whisky the medium of warding off possible chills—were often saved by grandmother's red-pepper tea.

What has become of the red pepper; and how did it happen that just as it went out of fashion diphtheria came in, and with it a dozen other throat diseases with long and mysterious names—and none of which medical science, which has made the slowest progress of all the sciences, is able to treat with much success? Our grandmothers kept the young and old throats of their generation cured up with red and cayenne pepper, and warded off many other diseases with them. What, since they have disappeared, has taken their place, or is doing their work? Something, whatever it is, that doesn't cure.

CONDITION OF THE LABORER.

Captain Mayne Reid, an English Republican, and living in the most prosperous of the farming districts of England, is giving to the world the condition of social country life in merrie England. His picture of the farm laborer,—and whose condition is not worse than the condition of all other laborers in that country,—is one our countrymen, especially the fathers and mothers, should dwell upon. The subject furnishes texts that the political economist and humanitarian can profitably preach from, and fortunate will he be who in time turns his steps from the way that will in this country lead to the same thraldom and beggarly dependence. Reid paints the English farm laborer as working twelve hours a day and boarding himself; he gets a scant three dollars a week, and with a rent of twenty dollars or twenty-five dollars a year for his cottage, and with beef and mutton twenty cents a pound and flour two dollars a bushel, he cannot save a single shilling. His wife may help him out by keeping chickens and fattening a pig, but his children, as soon as they can earn anything, are forced by statute to go to a country school, where their time is wasted rather than improved by teachers who themselves need to be taught. Every winter he must beg for a "bit of a job," and if he can find anything to do in a mine or on a railway he counts himself highly favored by fortune. His only privilege hastens his ruin, for the gallons of harvest beer and the free tap of horse-pond cider which are drunk in the field induce habits of intemperance and thriftlessness. The worst feature of his lot is his helplessness. He cannot get money enough to emigrate. He is chained to the rock by the thongs of poverty. He must stay where he is, half-starving when there is something to do, and living on bread and water, or rather water and bread-crumbs, when there is bad weather, or when winter comes, or when he is too sick to work.

When our rich men have grown richer, and the land and the property shall have more fully passed out of the hands of the many by the natural increase of wealth rolling in upon itself, the condition of the laborer in our own country will not be superior to the condition of the English farm hand, as shown by Captain Reid. The only remedy for it is in turning the attention of the rising generation to the soil while it is cheap, so that the monopolizing of it may be checked, and have men working their own farms instead of leading the semi-vagabond life of tramp laborers. Working men are even now too largely dependent upon capital and corporations for a poor living, and thousands, though possibly faring more sumptuously to-day, because better paid, are not more independent if work fails or an accident befalls them, than are their English cousins. True independence and comfort will be more completely found in working directly for our living on the soil, and wise is he who turns his steps thitherward.

SANTA BARBARA POLITICS.

A short chapter of politics in Santa Barbara county is presented from a correspondent writing to the Lompoc Record. He says:

The old parties now claim to have gotten rid of their old bosses. The Republicans ignored Richards in the last city election, and now the Democrats have relegated Nick to future oblivion. This all accomplished, a new set of aspirants are coming to the front. Editor McGlashan is favorably spoken of for Congress, and John P. Stearns for State Senator. It is said that G. W. Frick can have the Assembly nomination if he so desires. The office of Sheriff lays between—that is the nomination—Major Durfee and Robert J. Broughton. Old honest Joe Wentling is looming up for Clerk. The Republican aspirants for the lesser positions on the ticket are too numerous to mention, so we will pass to the more prominent Democratic aspirants.

Hon. P. W. Murphy will probably be the Congressional candidate. Col. Hayne is talked of for the Senate, and lawyer Storke for the Assembly. C. E. Sherman is doubtless the strongest candidate for Sheriff, with no opponent to Williams for Clerk. Yndart is the man for Treasurer, and L. Irwin, of Lompoc, talked of for Assessor, while G. E. Thurmond has no opposition for Superintendent of Schools.

The Republicans of Santa Barbara concede the nomination of Judge Heacock, should he desire it, and the Democrats have settled down on B. F. Thomas.

Miss Dora Apple, of Chicago, is suing Mr. Stone, of Wisconsin, for breach of promise, demanding $20,000. And it serves him right. Mr. Stone should have paired his Apple.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

This morning at 9:30 o'clock Professors Kellogg and Moses will meet all those who wish to apply for examination, preliminary to admission to the University of California, at City Superintendent Guinn's office in the High School building. The studies in which applicants will be examined were given in Sunday morning's TIMES. The examination does not impress us as being a particularly severe one, and it is hoped that many of the youth, of both sexes, of this city and county will embrace this opportunity for procuring a higher education than is possible in the public schools. The doors of the University are open to all who may come; the faculty embrace a corps of professors not excelled in the West; every facility is provided; ample buildings, scientific apparatus, a library filled with grand, good books, and in fact there is nothing wanting. One can live at Berkeley as cheaply as anywhere in the State; the associations are good and all conditions favorable. It is a duty that each one owes to himself and society that he procure the best possible education and such opportunities should not be neglected.

"The Democratic party owes its strength in this State to-day to the fact that, on the Chinese issue, it has been true to the aspirations of the people of the Pacific Coast. It has also been greatly helped by the scandalous administration of Governor Perkins, and by the rapidly intensifying conviction that the Republican party has been already too long in control of the Government for the public weal."—Herald.

Well, well, who'd a thought it!

George D. Perkins is a model editor. He edits the Sioux City Journal. Being urged to become a Congressional candidate for the Eleventh District of Iowa on the Republican ticket, he replied that a man cannot be both a useful editor and a self-respecting office-holder, and that he preferred to remain an editor, with his paper free to speak the truth.

George is sound on the main question. Our people entertain the same opinion here.

Broken Contract.

Judge Howard's decision yesterday afternoon, in the matter of the application for a writ of habeas corpus of William Somerset, elicited much amusement. The venerable dispenser of justice decided that inasmuch as Mrs. Thayer had given Somerset the money to enable them to elope; and that, whereas, Somerset had failed to come to time, and elope with Mrs. Thayer, as per previous agreement, that he had wilfully and maliciously, with malice aforethought, misappropriated the funds set apart by Mrs. Thayer for that purpose, and was, therefore, guilty of embezzlement, and accordingly denied the writ, and remanded the prisoner to jail under one thousand dollars bail. This was subsequently reduced to six hundred dollars by Judge Sepulveda. Billy Somerset roosted in jail last night. Judge Fisher had committed him in the morning to jail under four thousand dollars bail.

SWEET WILLIAM.

After being Pummeled by an Irate Father is Arrested.

Last Sunday afternoon as the train was returning from Santa Monica a fellow known as "Sweet William," whose true name is William L. Carnduff, addressed two step-daughters of a Mr. Davis, of this city, in an indecent manner. The girls reported his words to Mr. Davis, who gave Carnduff a black eye at their next meeting, and would have decorated him more profusely if his patriotic work had not been interrupted by the police. After this punishment Carnduff was arrested, tried by a jury yesterday afternoon before Judge Adams, and found guilty on the charge of indecent and offensive conduct. This is the first conviction under such a charge before Judge Adams, and the sentence was deferred till this morning at 9 o'clock.

Orange Shipments.

A. O. Stevens, of the firm of Sewall & Stevens, San Gabriel, informed a TIMES reporter yesterday that they have shipped about twenty-five car loads of oranges east during the present season. The Eastern market is fifty per cent. better than that of San Francisco after March 1st. Last season's crop averaged about 90 cents per box at the depot, but they have paid during the present season as high as $3.50 per box, thus demonstrating that orange cultivation pays well, and as Mr. Stevens remarked, the business is merely in its infancy.

MORE AMUSEMENT.

The Milton Nobles Comedy Company To-night.

This excellent company open a three-nights' engagement at Turnverein Hall this evening, when the new and original American comedy, written by Mr. Nobles, entitled "Interviews," will be presented for the first time in this city. "The Phœnix," an American play, by an American author, will be rendered on Friday evening. A rich treat is in store for all who attend these entertainments, as Los Angeles does not often secure artists of such world-wide celebrity.

ARIZONA NEWS.

The Indians are Again at Their Devilish Work.

TOMBSTONE, May 31.—The bodies of two wood-choppers named Seymour Dey and Harry Curry were brought here to-day from the Dragoon mountains, twenty miles distant, where they were killed by Indians. Wm. H. Gill, an eye witness states that the men were on top of a load of hay and were unarmed. The Indians rode up behind and shot the men, then unharnessed the horses and drove them off. There were eight Indians in the party. Three were engaged in the killing, two watching, and three driving stock. They were heading for Sonora, and were doubtless from San Carlos. Intense excitement prevails here. The men will be awarded a decent burial to-morrow. There is no real danger except in isolated camps of wood choppers in the mountains. They are supposed to be driving stock to hostiles in Sonora, who were thoroughly whipped by Mexican troops, and their stock run off recently. A posse of deputy sheriffs went in pursuit of the hostiles to-night, and word was sent to the military. Apprehension is felt for the family at Dial's ranch, and woodchoppers and hay gatherers in that vicinity.

Guiteau's Soul Safe.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Guiteau yesterday sent for the Rev. Mr. Gaines, a colored clergyman, to pray with him. He said, in conversation, that he was not at all certain of being hanged, but if he was he believed his soul was safe, as he did the deed at God's command to save the country. He showed much feeling during the utterance.

Defaced.

MILLEVILLE, Pa., May 31.—Some miscreants have permanently defaced the soldiers' monument by the use of some liquid.

Shot by Order of Courtmartial

CHICAGO, May 31.—Reuben Lucas was shot by order of courtmartial at Telequah, Indian Territory, at ten o'clock to-day, for the murder of A. McKinley last December. Both Lucas and McKinley were of good Choctaw families, between whom there was a feud, and Lucas shot and killed the latter. Lucas met his death bravely.

COAST DISPATCHES.

The State University Commencement Exercises.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—The commencement exercises of the State University were held at Berkeley to-day. Governor Perkins and Regents were escorted from the train by the University cadets. The Harmon gymnasium, at which the exercises were held, was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The graduating class numbered seventy, and Rev. C. D. Barrows, of the First Congregational Church of San Francisco, was the orator of the day, and at the conclusion of the exercises a collation was set, after which the literary exercises of the University alumini took place. The attendance was unusually large.

THE GRAIN MOVEMENT.

For the eleven months ending May 30th, 21,000,000 centals of wheat have been shipped from San Francisco to foreign parts. The aggregate value of the grain reported is $35,000,000. The amount of wheat shipped here during the present season will be far in excess of that of any former year.

A NEW SMELTING PROCESS.

The Pacific Mining and Reducing Company gave an exhibition to-day of a new process of reducing refractory ores. In brief it consists in roasting and smelting, the roasting being performed in a new style furnace by a combination of steam and atomized pretroleum, affording intense and easily regulated heat. The ore is then put through a lead bath and melted. The inventor, Mr. Campbell, claims that his process will reduce most refractory ores, saving ninety odd per cent. at an expense of six or seven dollars per ton in a much shorter time than by previous methods.

ACCIDENT IN THE ALTA MINE.

VIRGINIA, Nevada, May 31.—This morning a pump column in the Alta mine broke, and soon after a bulkhead in the east drift gave way, letting in a heavy rush of water. Six men were working in the west end of the cut-off. The west end is higher than the station and the men are yet alive. The pumps are running to clear the shaft of water, and strong hopes are entertained that the men will be saved yet. Air is being forced down to them by means of pipes.

SMALL POX AMONG RAILROAD CHINESE.

LEMOORE, May 31.—Three cases of small pox have broken out among the Chinese employed by the railroad company at Huron, twenty miles west of here, at the terminus of this branch of the Southern Pacific Railroad. By order of the County Board of Health trains are not allowed to run further than this station. Considerable excitement prevails, and every effort will be made by the authorities to prevent the spread of the contagion.

Weather Report.

THE ATHLETICS.

The First Regular Monthly Entertainment.

A Grand Success Scored by the Boys—The Gymnastic Exercises—Dancing—Who were Present.

The Los Angeles Athletic club gave a grand exhibition of their skill last evening to a full house of invited friends at their hall in Downey Block. The beauty and the chivalry of our beautiful city were gathered there. After the athletic exercises came the social part of the programme. It was the most brilliant affair of the season in Southern California.

THE ATHLETIC EXERCISES

Were preluded by a fine opera from Wangeman's band. Then followed some fine specimens of skillful acting on the horizontal bar by Messrs. Strohm, Preuss, Laubenheimer, Lash and Weyse. It is not exaggerating to say that their tumbling was as good as that of any professionals and brought forth storms of applause.

S. B. Dewey, the champion light weight and billiardist, gave a splendid exhibition of skill in handling two seven-pound Indian clubs, and received merited applause.

Messrs. Strohm and Lathrop showed their skill as fencers. This was remarkably well performed.

The dumb-bell exercise by William M. Caswell was an excellent display of the strength of his muscles. The bells weighed respectively, fifty-five, sixty-five, eighty-five, and one hundred and ten pounds.

The audience were then treated to something not laid down on the programme, a sparring match between Messrs. Strohm and Goodwin. After donning their extra-sized "kids," they shook hands and began their manœuvres. The blows fell thick and fast. The affair was bloodless, interesting, and highly appreciated.

THE TWO-MILE RUN

commenced at 9:15 P. M. The runners were Messrs. Lancaster, Fleischman and Winston. Mr. Lancaster retired when the race was about half finished, and through some misunderstanding Mr. Winston thought he had made the distance, and lost several laps, leaving the race to Mr. Fleischman in thirteen minutes and eight seconds, which the umpire declared to compare favorably with that of the professionals.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA:

Some Facts Succinctly Stated About the State University.

The Organic Act establishing the University was passed by the Legislature of California in 1868, and approved by Governor H. H. Haight March 23d of that year. The courses of instruction began in the summer of 1869. Provision was made for such an institution in the first Constitution of the State, Art. IX, Sec. 4. A Congressional Act in 1853 set apart 72 sections of land for a Seminary Fund and 10 sections for a Public Building Fund. In 1862 a bill was passed by Congress, known as the Morrill Bill, giving public lands for colleges "for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts." One hundred and fifty thousand acres fell to the share of California. Certain conditions were annexed to this gift, and these conditions were accepted by our Legislature March, 1864. In March, 1866, an Act was passed by the Legislature "to establish an Agricultural, Mining and Mechanic Arts College." This was located by the directors in Alameda county. In August, 1867, the College of California proposed to give up its own organization (after an existence of about ten years) and unite all interests in a broad State University. The proposition was accepted, and the charter granted in 1868, the College continuing its classes until 1869.

There are five scientific colleges; those of agriculture, mechanic arts, mining, civil engineering and chemistry. There is a college of letters, with a classical course. There is a literary course, which leaves out Greek. There is a course in letters and science, leaving out both Greek and Latin. Suitable degrees are awarded to those who complete any of these courses of study.

All these colleges and courses are in the under-graduate department of the University at Berkeley. Connected with the University are four professional schools in San Francisco: The Toland College of Medicine; the Hastings College of Law; a College of Dentistry, and the California College of Pharmacy; also, the Lick Observatory, erected by the bequest of $750,000 made by James Lick, located on Mt. Hamilton.

The professional schools are supported by special funds. The endowment funds of the University, for the support of the under graduate department, are from the following sources: The Morrill endowment; State appropriations; College of California; private benefactions. The site, of 200 acres, was given by the College of California. The State has erected four university buildings at Berkeley. The State Geological collections belong to the University; also other valuable scientific collections. The library consists of 20,000 volumes, and has a fund, the benefaction of Michael Reese, of $50,000, with the increase devoted to yearly additions. The laboratories are ample. Facilities for instruction in all the colleges of science are superior to those of any other institution on the Pacific Coast.

There are about thirty professors and instructors in the under graduate department, and the professional schools are all adequately manned.

The Eagle Corps.

The marching of the Eagle Corps in the procession on Tuesday was well spoken of by all, although the boys had to contend with two bands, one in front and the other in the rear, playing different marching time. It was unanimously conceded, however, that the boys surpassed themselves in the homeward march from Turnverein Hall along Spring street and around Temple block back to the armory. Many old veterans pronounced it superb marching. Fifty additional uniforms are expected in a week or two, which will enable one hundred and twenty-five to participate in future public occasions. The boys will be in good shape to make an excellent showing of membership and efficiency by July 4th.

Carter and Phillips' Excursions.

Mr. Phillips, of San Gabriel, who is now in the East, having chaperoned an excursion party from this place, writes from Albany, New York, that he has organized an excursion to start from Boston and Albany on the 20th instant. The party of thirty-seven which he took East were just nine days on the road to Albany, and passed some very complimentary resolutions to the manager, Mr. Phillips expects to go East with another party in August.

Another New Firm.

T. H. Reynolds has sold out his transfer business to Marion Bills, of Portland, Oregon, who recently arrived in this city with his family to locate permanently. Mr. M. Bills has formed a co-partnership with our well-known fellow-citizen Robert Bills, at the latter's stand, No. 7 Market street. They have largely increased their facilities for transacting business and hope to merit a continuance of the liberal patronage bestowed on the old firm. Special attention will be given to the handling of boilers, safes, pianos and furniture. See announcement in "New To-Day."

AFTER TWENTY YEARS.

A Romance of the Graduating Class of 1882.

Mrs. Hanna Ball takes a Look Down the Vista of Time and tells what She sees Twenty Years Ago.

After an extended tour of twenty years on the European Continent, I at last yielded to an unconquerable desire once more to see the home of my youth, and so one beautiful June day in the year of our Lord 1902, I found myself on the outskirts of a beautiful city, more magnificent than any I had seen in my wanderings. Riding swiftly along we at length approached the heart of the city, and my surprise must be imagined when I saw the long streets of business blocks radiating from the elegant Capitol building of Southern California as a central point. My destination was my old home at Pasadena, and I inquired of the conductor of the train the best way to reach that point. Imagine my surprise when he pointed out to me a train of palace cars, labeled, "Los Angeles and Pasadena Railroad." I entered the cars and was soon whirling away at the rate of a mile a minute. Seated in the car nearly opposite to me was a gentleman, evidently a merchant. Something in his manner seemed strangely familiar, and perhaps my too steady gaze directed his attention towards me. At any rate, he turned and looked full at me. I immediately recognized my old classmate, John Averill. The recognition was mutual, and we were soon in pleasant conversation. This, too, suddenly came to a close, as he told me he lived in East Los Angeles. "You remember it was a suburb," he said, "and our house was once almost in the country, out near the hills." But it is all changed now, still our hearts are unchanged, and all your old school-mates will be glad to welcome you." We hold a class reunion in a short time and you must not fail to attend. In the mean time my wife and I will be happy to welcome you to Averill Hall.

Very much surprised, I rode on. We whirled past beautiful country residences, and at length stopped before a large gate over which was inscribed "Fred. Fisher, Silk Worm Culturist." I looked carefully over the place, glanced up the avenue to the pretty country house, and perceived that the whole place seemed to be planted in mulberry trees.

On we rushed again, and I at length reached my home in beautiful Pasadena.

One day soon after, I was called down to the parlor, and was somewhat annoyed to find a book agent there. He was very gentlemanly and pleasant, however, and handed me the book for which he was canvassing. I glanced at the title page, found it to be "Conscience versus Reasoning Power," an illustrated metaphysical work. "You can here see the frontispiece, a faithful likeness of the noted authoress," said the agent, and I gave an unmistakable start as the well known features of Ella Newmark met my eye. Beneath was written: "Engraved by Miss Jeanette Lazard." The polite agent noticed my surprise, and said, "You know the writer? Excuse me, but it seems to me that I have met you before? My name is Robert Dominguez."

In genuine amazement I grasped his hand, and many explanations followed. He informed me that he was taking a tour through the country for his health, which had been much impaired by severe law studies and practice. Ella and Jeanette, he told me, were both well known in the literary world, and Ella wrote many articles for Lacy's noted Pacific Review, which Jeanette illustrated.

Of course I bought a copy, and lawyer Dominguez departed, after telling me I must be sure to attend the class re-union which was to be given in honor of the return of Senator Benjamin Bryant and wife from Washington. He told me that Effie was a great favorite in the fashionable world at Washington, because of her old "taking ways."

The noted Miss Agnes Wilson, Professor of Languages at Harvard, was also expected to be present at our meeting; and hearing all this, impatiently did I await the occasion.

In the meantime I had heard of a very noted law case which was to be tried in the city, in which Miss Clara Stoltenburg, the rising young lawyer, was counsel for the plaintiff, Bentinet Boyd. It was a case for the recovery of a large amount of property of which he had been defrauded, and Miss Clara was expected to deliver some very forcible arguments. I went into the city in the morning and was walking along the street when I noticed a commotion quite near. A gas pipe was being laid and several people were collected around. The stir had been caused by the knocking down of a man by a passing vehicle. I inquired of a bystander who he was. "The Geological Professor," he answered. "He had found a fossil in the dirt that had been thrown up, and was so absorbed in the contemplation of it that he did not hear the call to 'clear the way;' however, here he comes and seems to be unhurt." I looked where he pointed and saw a man advancing, with spectacles on his nose, hat awry, a hammer, chisel and bag. I would have known him any where by the preoccupied expression with which he contemplated the fosil in his hand. It was Lowman Nevin.

Later in the day I met a little dark lady hurrying along with a roll of papers under one arm and several books in the other. She knew me immediately and I soon recognized Emma Fleishman. She told me she was teaching in the Normal School on the hill and enjoyed it almost as much as she did our old school days in the Senior class.

I soon received an invitation to the "Class reunion" of the L. A. H. S. graduates of 1882, to be held at the residence of L. N. Kercheval, Wednesday evening, June 21st.

When the evening came and I was ushered into the spacious parlors, such a scene met my view as, twenty years ago I should have believed impossible. I was so confused at seeing so many, "like and yet unlike" my classmates of long ago, that I knew not which way to turn. The hostess, our old Maggie Davis, saw my embarrassment and coming quickly forward, welcomed me heartily, and led me up the long room to where, on a kind of dias or platform, snugly ensconsed in a big arm chair, was a little gray headed old lady who proved to be Mrs. Jones, as lively and lovable as ever. She had retired from teaching and was living on her ranch near the mountains, but had come in once more to accept the position of ruler over this gathering of her school children. I took a seat by her, and together we watched the different groups scattered through the rooms. In our corner by a cabinet stood Professor Nevin and a lady whom I did not recognize. "Why, my child, don't you know Laura Thomas?" exclaimed Mrs. Jones, "she had charge of the State Museum, and has published several articles on Histological Botany in the "Pacific Review," which have attracted much attention. There was a sudden lull in the conversation near us, and we distinctly heard in Howman's well known tones, "The formation of the rock in which it was found plainly shows that it belonged to the Jurassic period of the Reptilian Age in Mesozoic time," and Laura answered, "But the very fact of its being found in such close proximity to the fossilized Ichthyosaurus proves that its place is in the Triassic."

Soon a move toward the piano proclaimed that we were to have something in the way of music. The instant the first chord was struck all detected the touch of a master hand, and the brilliant introduction that followed placed the fact of the performer's musical genius beyond a doubt. Mrs. Jones noticed my pleasure and surprise and whispered, "Yes, it is Addie O'Melveny. We are all proud of her. She and Lizzie Pickering have just returned from Italy, where they have been studying music several years. They have a well patronized conservatory of music near Laura Meyer's elegant home on Fort street. By the way, you must see Laura and attend one of her receptions. She is undoubtedly the leader of the "fashionables," but as equally well known among the poor. All praise her beauty and goodness. But listen, Lizzie is about to sing."

Full and strong rose the sweet tones, until all the rooms seemed to be filled with the melody poured forth by the prima donna. I could not forbear to smile as I wondered if Miss McLean, who with Miss Hodgkins stood near by, was fully satisfied with the teaching to which she laid the foundation, and if she was certain Lizzie had mastered the diaphragm movement.

I must not forget to mention the Young Ladies' Seminary which Miss Hodgkins and Miss McLean have established and which is widely and favorably known.

"Who was it published the last volume of Leland's poems, which is in a fair way to render him famous?" I inquired, when the hearty applause called out by Lizzie's singing had died away.

"The first edition was brought out by the Pacific Review Publishing Company. Ada and Willie Lacy, of course, claimed the privilege of bringing out the old friend who had contributed to their magazine so long," answered Mrs. Jones.

"Have you seen an account of that new planet recently discovered by Allie Richardson? She has made herself a name which will last in the astronomical world for ages. But then she has such an excellent chance for observation at Lick's Observatory, and Professor Redway can aid her so much. Oh, did you hear how he almost blew himself up a few years ago while experimenting with some celluloid collars? I believe he leaves for Oxford soon to accept the chair of Professor of Chemistry at that place.

There is your sister Elina just entering, do tell me what she has been doing all these days?" "Well you know Elina went to the University, and after studying hard for four years graduated with honors and finally married the German Professor there. He is standing by Agnes now; you see he is quite gray headed; he is a clever old gentleman."

Late that night I returned home and and as I thought of all the wonderful transformations I had seen that evening I decided that though I had seen and heard of many strange changes during my wandering, nothing surpassing the alterations of my classmates in the last twenty years had ever come to my knowledge. And for long afterward the thought was ever present in my mind. "If such has been their progress in this comparative short time what may the Class of '82 not accomplish in the remainder of their lives?"

May the laurel crown rest on many brows, and may each achieve that greatest of victories, "the mastery of himself."

"Vincit, qui se vincit."
